Marbling Redefined

Greater Omaha Packing Co. upholds a legacy of high quality, exceptional beef, and consistent supply. With the addition of WinterFrost American Wagyu to our lineup, we are expanding our range of high-quality beef programs. This new offering maintains the same standards of excellence, delivering superior flavor, tenderness, and reliability that our customers expect. WinterFrost American Wagyu complements Greater Omaha's existing products, reinforcing our commitment to providing the best beef in the industry.

Local Roots

Greater Omaha Packing Company supports local Midwest producers by sourcing high-quality cattle within a 250-radius of our Omaha facility. Our commitment strengthens community economic stability and preserves a way of life for future generations.

Our experienced buyers focus on Hereford, Angus, and Black Baldy cattle, working closely with producers to build trust, provide education, and foster networking opportunities. They connect seed stock operators with feedlot operators and regularly host appreciation dinners to share industry insights and strengthen relationships. This collaborative approach helps maintain the highest standards in beef production.

Surpassing the Ordinary

Quality is the unwavering standard that drives every aspect of our operations at Greater Omaha. We take pride in ensuring that our customers enjoy the finest beef available anywhere in the world. Our cattle are sourced directly from the Corn Belt, a region renowned for producing the largest supply of Angus and Hereford cattle. This area's unique environment and agricultural expertise yield livestock with unmatched quality, resulting in beef that stands out for its flavor, tenderness, and consistency.

We don't just follow industry standards; we set them. By staying at the forefront of the safest and most advanced production practices, we ensure that every cut of beef meets the highest standards of excellence. From the farm to the table, our commitment to quality is unwavering, making Greater Omaha a leader in the global beef industry. This dedication to superior quality drives everything we do, ensuring that our customers receive only the best, every time.

Investing in Greatness

Our employees are the heart of Greater Omaha, driving customer satisfaction at every step of our operation. From the processing floor to logistics and customer support, their dedication, skill, and passion for excellence ensure we deliver the finest beef products with precision and care.

We foster an environment of growth, collaboration, and respect, investing in training and professional development to empower our team. This commitment to our people translates into superior service, where every interaction and every order reflects their expertise and attention to detail.

By combining diverse talents from over 70 countries with a shared dedication to quality, Greater Omaha guarantees exceptional customer satisfaction and maintains its reputation as an industry leader.
